Security Removable Media Manager

Squadra Technologies Company Overview

Squadra is a software security company focusing on the niche of providing robust control and auditing of organizational data/file transfers. In the “Snowden/Sony/Anthem” era of major data breaches organizations are demanding data loss prevention (DLP) solutions that ensure security from internal threats. Recognizing this increase in demand Squadra developed Security Removable Media Manager (secRMM).

secRMM was developed to adhere to the strict requisites required by the United States Department of Defense. Yet with the increased regulatory environment successful customer acquisition has now been made across the following key market verticals; finance, healthcare, and legal. In addition, secRMM has been purchased by energy providers, casinos, manufacturing facilities, mining, and state/local agencies.

Squadra Technologies continues to provide organizations and agencies best-of-class security solutions to manage data assets within their environments.
